PUTNAM KIDNAPED BY 'NAZIS'

Publisher Bares Hitler Expose Death Threats

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., May 13 (AP)—Bound and gagged, George Palmer Putnam, 52, Hollywood publisher and husband of the late Amelia Earhart, was found in an unfinished house here today, a few hours after he was kidnaped from his North Hollywood home.

Putnam, unhurt, said the kidnapers demanded the name of the author of the anonymous book "The Man Who Killed Hitler," and suggested it would be "healthier" if he ceased printing it.

A statewide search for the pair and for Putnam's car, in which they brought him here, was ordered by sheriff's deputies.

Two Department of Justice agents from Los Angeles sped here to question the publisher, but declined to discuss the case.

"They were very decent to me," Putnam declared. "They didn't rough me at all."

BULLET-RIDDLED BOOK

The publisher said he refused their demands and recalled ruefully that he had "thought the other warnings were phonies."

Receipt of a bullet-riddled copy of the book, two letters and a telephone call threatening his life were reported to Los Angeles police within the past month and on one occasion Putnam fired two shots at a man who was climbing a tree near his bedroom window.

"I'm a little upset but I'm not hurt," Putnam said as he sat in the sheriff's office here.

Then he described the events of last night.

"About 5 o'clock," he recalled, "my secretary, (Miss Josephine Berger) received a telephone call supposed to have come from Rex Cole (Hollywood actor's agent and close friend of Putnam).

"The caller said Cole had an important matter to discuss and wanted me to come to his house. Shortly before 7:30 I walked into the garage. There two men jumped on me and pushed me into the car.

BLINDFOLDED BY TWO

"They blindfolded me and tied my hands. We drove for about an hour. They conversed between themselves in German, but both spoke English, one fluently and in an educated way. I asked them what they wanted and reminded them that kidnaping was a serious offense.

"They said they wanted to know the man who had contributed to the Hitler book from the German end. I told them I didn't know and stuck to that story.

"Finally they stopped the car. One of them got out. I am not sure, but I believe he went to talk with someone in a car which was following mine. Soon he returned and we drove on.

"They did not threaten me, but

King and Queen Send Princesses Letters, Photos

LONDON, May 13 (AP)—Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose danced a jig around the court postmaster at Buckingham Palace as he opened a big red mailbag from the Empress of Australia today.

Long letters from Queen Elizabeth and a score of snapshots Father King George took during the early stages of their voyage to Canada were in packets handed to the children.

Soggy Sabbath On Hub's Menu

Predicting intermittent light rain throughout New England late tonight and tomorrow, government forecasters said today there was a good chance the woodland fire hazard in this area would be materially lessened in the next 24 hours.

Freezing and near-freezing temperatures were reported in northern New Hampshire and sections of Maine. Lowest official reading was 30 degrees at Greenville, Me.

Outlying sections of Greater Boston had temperatures in the high 30's and low 40's.

Italy's Crown Prince Exiled by Mussolini

LONDON, May 13 (INS)—Crown Prince Humbert of Italy and his Belgian-born wife, Princess Marie Jose, will arrive shortly in Brussels for an extended visit believed to be a "virtual exile" ordered by Premier Mussolini, the London Daily Mirror reported today.

A Brussels dispatch to the paper said it is "believed the prince is in disgrace."

Direct heir to the throne of Italy and scion of the European continent's oldest reigning family, the House of Savoy, handsome 34-year-old Humbert has in the recent past been rumored to have fallen into disfavor with Mussolini because of his privately expressed disapproval of certain Fascist methods.

Prince Victor Emanuel

There were even published rumors that the prince, long a popular figure in Italy, was the leader of a royal court and aristocratic group secretively though not publicly opposing Mussolini, especially Il Duce's ever-closer collaboration with Adolf Hitler and Germany's Nazis.

Humbert, a tall, striking figure of a man as studious as he is athletic, had as his most intimate political friend the equally-dashing Marshal Italo Balbo.

Since that time, Both Humbert and Balbo have been kept well in the background of Italian affairs. Author of many anonymously-written historical treatises, Humbert was at one time said to have made known to Italian inner circles his opposition to the recently enacted anti-Semitic and racist measures adopted by the Fascist government. He was understood to have privately sympathized with the late Pope Pius XI's condemnation of these measures as contrary to the universal precepts of Catholicism.

Fog-Bound King's Ship Is Day Late

ABOARD EMPRESS OF AUSTRALIA, May 13 (Canadian Press)—Fog again halted the Empress of Australia today and it appeared the liner, carrying King George and Queen Elizabeth on their visit to Canada and the United States, would be a day late in reaching Quebec.

The Empress was fogbound in the iceberg zone 250 miles east of Cape Race, Newfoundland, and 1080 miles from Quebec, where she was due to arrive at 9:30 a. m., E. S. T., Monday. It was not believed that she could dock before Tuesday.

At 6:15 a. m., E. S. T., today, the liner and her escort drifted idly, with fog so thick those aboard the Empress could not see the cruisers Glasgow and Southampton nearby.

Ship's officers admitted that even if the fog lifted shortly it would be impossible to reach Quebec on schedule.

Fog has swirled about the gleaming white liner almost continuously since early Thursday and the vessel was able to proceed little more than 150 miles.

Yesterday she covered less than 60 miles and last night the Empress, blanked by towering icebergs, started and stopped frequently, her whistle continuously sounding for signals.

Ship's Delay to Shorten King's Stay in Ottawa

OTTAWA, May 13 (AP)—Prime Minister MacKenzie King announced today the visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth to Ottawa would be shortened from four to three days because of their delay in arriving in Canada.

American Dancer Hints Hitler Love

LONDON, May 13 (INS)—Nineteen-year-old Miriam Verne, Pittsburgh dancer starring in the operetta, "The Merry Widow," at Munich, "almost thinks she loves" Chancellor Adolf Hitler, the London Daily Sketch said today.

According to the paper, Miss Verne "confessed" as much in a London-Munich telephone interview. She has performed before the Reichsfuehrer and other high Nazi officials on numerous occasions.

Before going to Munich, the young Pennsylvania girl had a featured role in "Melody of the Night" at Berlin's Metropole Theater. Hitler, after witnessing several performances, helped her obtain a contract to appear in "The Merry Widow" in Munich, and told her that her dancing was "simply wonderful."

Miriam Verne

Since then, according to the interview, her affection for the Fuehrer has increased rapidly.

The Sketch quoted Miss Verne as saying:

"Hitler is such a great man that I was frightened when we first met but now I almost feel that I'm—No, he's such an important man I would not say it at all.

"I am only an artist. He is so great and I admire him tremendously. I wouldn't dare say more."

Miss Verne, said the Sketch, was even more shy about discussing Hitler's feelings for her. Queried on this point, she told the Sketch:

"What a question! He does me honor. He admires my dancing . . . He saw me dancing in Berlin, sent for me and asked if I didn't think it would be a good idea to come to the Muich Theater. I was most delighted."

Miss Verne added, the Sketch said, that despite his campaign against women using cosmetics, Hitler never objected to her use of them.

She revealed that she has learned to speak German since she met the Fuehrer last September.

"I soon picked up the language," she said. "I am so glad. It's pleasant to speak with such a man in his own language.

"To me Hitler is such a natural, human person. Before, I was always interested solely in my work, but now . . ."

WOMAN SLEUTH GETS HER 'MAN'-- ALL 5 OF THEM

MARY SHANLEY
Detective Queen

NEW YORK, May 13 (INS)—Five New York jewelers were held today on charges of receiving stolen goods in connection with the $100,000 gem and fur holdup of Mrs. Henry W. Breyer, Jr., widow of a Philadelphia ice cream manufacturer, and her mother-in-law, on Feb. 28.

On that night, three "stop light" bandits slugged the chauffeur driving the two wealthy women—the young Mrs. Breyer is heiress to a $24,000,000 ice cream fortune—from an opera and robbed them of their ermine coats and jewelry.

Two of the bandits later were captured by Philadelphia police and on March 28 were sentenced to 60 and 17½ years each. The men were James Cummings, 38, a paroled convict, and Dominic Acobacco, 32. The third bandit was not caught and none of the jewelry was recovered.

Mrs. Breyer, Jr.

The trail of the missing gems led to New York and Mary Shanley, famed woman detective, went to work on the case here. After weeks of diligent search, Detective Shanley decided to break her case. She walked into the jewelry store of Myer Hertz and Gabriel Cohen on the Bowery, and asked them if they had any "hot" jewelry on hand.

According to Detective Shanley, Hertz and Cohen immediately turned over to her pieces of the Breyer jewelry. The pieces recovered included a six-karat emerald, twotwo four-karat diamonds and 114 smaller diamonds.

Capt. Sam Mooney and Detectives Daniel Campion and Joseph McGee stepped in and arrested both men.

Questioning of Hertz and Cohen led the police to the jewelry store of Joseph Arnold, and Irving Kivowitz in Maiden lane. According to the detectives, Hertz and Cohen said they got the gems from the Maiden lane address. Arnold and Kivowitz were arrested.

The latter two said they had received the gems from Herman Silver, who operates a jewelry store in a ritzy mid-town hotel. Silver was arrested.

Yeggman Loots Safe of $3000

Apparently secreting himself in the establishment overnight, a safe-cracker today escaped from the United Services store at 486 Hanover street, North End, with between $3000 and $4000.

Manager Lester Oppenheim said the robber obviously escaped through a window which was found open, but explained that had the window been forced open for an entrance the burglar alarm system would have been set off.

The combination of the safe had been ripped off.

18-Ounce Baby Dies in 'Lung'

LOS ANGELES, May 13 (AP)—An 18-ounce handful of humanity, Phyllis Theresa Melchionne, died in an "iron lung" today, 24 hours after her birth. The attending physician attributed death to respiratory failure.

Phyllis, born more than three months prematurely to 22-year-old Nancy Melchionne, wife of a laundry worker, succumbed despite constant efforts of doctors and nurses to keep alive the spark of life in her tiny body. Inhalator treatments had been given from the first, and after several hours she was placed in the respirator.

DEB'S ROMANCE BARED AS SISTER PLANS WEDDING

The approaching wedding of one daughter of Beals Coleman Wright, famed Davis Cup tennis player, today led to the disclosure that her sister will follow her two weeks later as a June bride.

Elizabeth Adelaide Wright, now 20, is culminating a two-year engagement to Gilbert Strelinger, Jr., 25-year-old Yale graduate and a St. Louis socialite, by marrying on June 10. This was learned by the filing of marriage intentions by the couple at Boston city hall.

But at the same time as Miss Wright was confirming her intention, her sister, Dorothy, blushingly admitted that she would wed a Harvard Medical School grad, Dr. Edward Ferguson of Louisville, Ky.

The first ceremony will be performed at the home of Mrs. Oliver Hall, an aunt of the girls, in Lincoln street, Hingham. Plans are not positive yet for Dorothy's nuptials.

Both of the girls make their home with another aunt, Miss Elizabeth Wright, in Grampian way, Dorchester.

Elizabeth graduated from the Todhunter School in New York and the Beaver Country Day School, at both of which she was prominent in athletics. Her father was one time national amateur tennis champion and captain of the Davis Cup team. Irving G. Wright, head of the Wright and Ditson Co., is her uncle.

Strelinger is a student at Harvard Law School and is a graduate of the Berkshire School and Yale.

Another romance, with an international flavor to it was revealed at the marriage bureau, with filing of intentions by Arnold H. Hall, 65, and Kathleen N. Farey, 45, both of London, here on visitors' permits. He lists himself as having been twice married and she as a widow.

Apples Burst Into Bloom In Time for Queen Emily

EMILY SALTONSTALL

Bower Blossoms for Her

MARLBORO, May 13—A last-minute burst of pink and white apple blossoms today provided an appropriate setting for the opening of the fifth annual Nashoba Apple Blossom Week, ruled over by Queen Emily Saltonstall, daughter of the governor.

The belated arrival of the blossoms coincided with the inaugural event of the apple blossom program—coronation of the queen by Donald L. Priest of Groton, president of the Nashoba Fruit Producers' Association.

Hundreds of visitors throng the orchard of John E. Rice, president of the Massachusetts Fruit Growers Association, to witness the coronation. Attended by a specially costumed court of attendants, Queen Nashoba V arrives at the scene of the ceremony on a cart drawn by a yoke of pure white oxen.

Tomorrow Governor Saltonstall will attend the apple blossom celebration at Westford, where special church services have been arranged. He was epresented at the coronation by Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook.

Murder Ring Probe Spread to Brooklyn

PHILADELPHIA, May 13 (AP)—Investigation of the vast insurance murder racket spread suddenly today to Brooklyn, N. Y., where police refused to believe a fantastic tale of intrigue when it was first told three years ago by a man now an important government witness.

The man, John Cacopardo, is serving life for the murder of his Brooklyn sweetheart, Molly Starace. Cacopardo was "borrowed" from Sing Sing prison to testify here at the trial of Herman Petrillo, a convicted key figure in the plots blamed for scores of deaths.

Arranging to leave for Brooklyn, Police Captain James A. Kelly and his staff refused to disclose the purpose of the trip. Nor would they say whether arrests were expected.

ACCUSES HIS UNCLE

With them the officers planned to take Morris Bolber, self-styled "psychiatrist," but known to other prisoners as a "faith healer." Bolber, who gave himself up May 1, has been charged with murder.

A former Philadelphian, Bolber had lived recently in New York. The ring has been linked by investigators to deaths in several states.

He accused his uncle, Paul Petrillo, a South Philadelphia tailor, charged with murder in connection with a death attributed to the gang.

TALE TOLD BY LIFER

Cacopardo declared he believed Molly's father in danger and went to the home to warn him. On arriving, he said, he found Paul Petrillo already there.

Molly was killed, Cacopardo testified, while he and Petrillo were struggling for a pistol. Cacopardo admitted the pistol was his, carried because of threats to the Starace family.

But Cacopardo's story was labeled as a creation of his fancy to escape the electric chair. A Brooklyn detective corroborated it as having been told by the life-termer.

NEW YORK, May 13 (INS)—Dorothy Lamour, sarong girl of the films, will become the bride of thrice-married millionaire Swing Maestro Charles Barnet in June, friends said today.

On May 1 Miss Lamour's orchestra leader husband, Herbie Kay, obtained a Chicago divorce.

Friends of the film star said she and Barnet probably will be married in Mexico.

Who Will Be Boston No. 1 Glamour Girl?

Nominations were coming in thick and fast today for the title of Boston's "No. 1 Glamour Girl," but two contenders—who hadn't anything to say about it themselves for the moment—led the field.

ELEANOR FROTHINGHAM

Both are debutantes of the current season, noted for its crop of beautiful buds, and, unofficially, society let it be known that it wouldn't be long before the twin lead was challenged.

The leaders so far are Eleanor "Sister" Frothingham, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Frothingham, Jr., of Beacon street, and Cynthia Burrage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, Jr., of Hereford street.

Elizabeth Putnam

RICH SOCIAL TRADITION

But each personifies glamour in her personal beauty and accomplishments in art and sports; each, likewise, inherits a family name rich in color and social tradition.

Miss Frothingham, who attended the Winsor School, is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wright Fabyan, long leaders of New England society.

Miss Burrage's father was a polo player of renown and through marriage her family is linked to that of Forrester A. "Tim" Clark, Jr., Harvard athlete.

OTHER CANDIDATES

Other prominent candidates for the Glamour Girl title in Boston's 1939-40 debutante list include:

Elizabeth Lowell Putnam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Putnam of 89 Beacon street; Joan Sears Griess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Justin William Griess of Hamilton; Marion Danielson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Danielson of 314 Dartmouth street; Susan Lawrence Plummer; daughter of Mrs. Parsons Plummer of 398 Beacon street; Dorothy Gannett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Hamlen, of 704 Brush Hill road, Milton; C. Sidney Lockwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar Lockwood of Topsfield; Rosemary Merrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Merrill of "Avalon," Pride's Crossing, and Justine V. R. PARDONS PROBE REBOUNDS TO HIT REGIME OF G. O. P.

The probe of pardons and paroles, started by the Republicans, rebounded against one of their administrations today with the seizure of the records for all cases 10 years back.

By its action the special commission indicated that Governor Allen's pardons will be examined as well as those of former Governors Hurley, Curley and Ely.

At the same time, it was disclosed that it was Commissioner of Corrections Arthur T. Lyman who suggested the impounding and study of these records. Lyman's department had been severely criticized in the floor squabble preceding passage of the probe order by the Legislature.

All persons, lawyers and particularly politicians who made visits during the past 10 years to prisoners at state prison and Concord reformatory prior to their pardonings are to be called before the commission.

The impounding of the pardon records set up a mystery angle. The only explanation vouchsafed came from one member of the commission, who said:

"Something has come up which makes it necessary for us to go back as far as ten years."

The impounding of Corrections Department records came after members of the commission had conferred with Corrections Commissioner Arthur T. Lyman.

In connection with the records of all visitors to persons subsequently pardoned from state prison and the reformatory, the commission has learned that, in the case of one pardoned prisoner, at least eight or ten prominent Boston attorneys and politicians went to the trouble of seeing this man while he was behind bars although none of the lawyers had been attorneys of record in the man's case nor had any of these visitors appeared publicly interested in his affairs.

The commission now seeks to know why the visitors suddenly did become interested in this prisoner and what they talked about when they visited him.

Patriarca Waits Call For Pardon Hearing

MIAMI, Fla., May 13—Although the honeymooning Raymond L. S. Patriarca of Providence was reported to be planning a return to Boston this week, he announced today he did not know when he was going back.

"I'm going back to Massachusetts, but I don't know exactly when. I've heard all about the attorney general's ruling of yesterday." The ruling was to the effect Patriarca was in Florida illegally, a ruling disputed by Arthur T. Lyman, commissioner of correction.

Yale Graduate Dies In Studio Blaze

NEWTOWN, Conn., May 13 (INS)—Robert Wheeler, 32, brilliant Yale graduate, was burned to death in his sleep early today when fire destroyed a studio apartment attached on the estate of Mary Alden Hopkins, writer.

Wheeler, son of James E. Wheeler, of New Haven attorney, had been working on the estate.

Gets Divorce, $2,000 a Month

Single again today, but richer by $2000-a-month alimony payments guaranteed by a $750,000 trust fund, was Mrs. Lena H. Lewis of Cambridge, wife of Alfred G. Baker Lewis, millionaire leader of the Socialist party in Massachusetts.

A. B. Lewis

Charging mental cruelty, Mrs. Lewis won a divorce decree in Reno, Nev., and gained custody of the three Lewis children, Alfred G. Baker, Jr., 11, Caroline Elizabeth, 9, and Helena Fales, 3.

At a private hearing, Judge B. F. Cutler granted Mrs. Lewis' additional request for title to a pretentious estate in Cambridge, consisting of a noble brick dwelling at Gray Gardens, East, and spacious lawns on Raymond street in the exclusive Observatory Hill section.

Mrs. Lewis and Attorney Virgil C. Brink of Watertown were named trustees of the fortune, comprised mainly of stocks and bonds in Pennsylvania banks.

HE LIVES IN $1 ROOM

On coming of age, or on the death of their mother, the three Lewis children will be given the fund, if they wish it, or they may leave it in trust.

Lewis, widely known as Socialist candidate for governor and active in strike picket lines, heard of the court decision in his $1-a-day room at the Boston Y. M. C. A., where he has lived since his wife established residence in Reno in April. He refused comment.

Freed by a Reno divorce from her millionaire husband, leader of the Socialist party in Massachusetts, Mrs. Alfred G. Baker Lewis will get $2000 a month alimony, backed by a $750,000 trust fund.

Lewis inherited $2,000,000 last October from his grandmother, Mrs. Henrietta Rush Fales Baker of Philadelphia, although he was already possessed of a large fortune.

$2,000,0000 FOR BROTHER

Baker's grandmother left another $2,000,000 in her estate for Lewis' brother, John Frederick Lewis of Philadelphia, a pillar of Philadelphia society, president of Art Alliance and president of the Mercantile Library.

She died in 1897, creating a trust for her two children, to be divided among their children at their death. The brothers were the only ones to share the $4,000,000 estate.

Before coming to Boston, to become active in liberal circles, Alfred Lewis was a United States Commissioner in Philadelphia.

SURVIVORS TELL SEA DRAMA STORY

They needed shaves.

They were dressed in nondescript, salt stained clothes, and they might have been dragged through a wringer.

But all three were grinning, for, with 44 other members of the crews of two fishing schooners which crashed head-on nearly 100 miles at sea, they had lived another of the great life and death sagas of the North Atlantic fishing fleet.

The grinning trio, Andrew Decker of Rockport, Cornelius Murphy of Cambridge and Mark Cotreau of Princeton st., East Boston, were first of the schooner crash survivors to reach Boston.

HAPPY OVER ESCAPE

As they walked down the gangplank of the Coast Guard cutter Thetis at the Charlestown Navy Yard, you'd have thought they were coming home from an uneventful fishing trip.

That is, except for the clothes—clothes that bore mut evidence of the scramble they had to get on deck and over the side before the Isabelle Parker trapped them in her sudden open-water death quiver.

With the 44 other survivors on their way to Bosto naboard the cutter Cayuga, these three, who had the longest struggle to land at Great Wass island, near Jonesport, Me., after 50 hours of weary tugging at the oars, found they had, after all, taken the shortest way home.

And so they grinned, despite the memories of facing the chill seas for hour after hour, pulling doggedly on a guess course for the land they hoped lay ahead.

FOUGHT DEATH IN FOG

"It was cold and foggy out there," Murphy said ,and we had no food and no compass, nothing but instinct to guide us.

"But it's all over now, and we feel pretty god."

The three were asleep below when the Parker and the Edith C. Rose, auxiliary schooners, crashed in a bow-to-bow collision. So quickly did the Parker sink that they just made open water with their dory in time.

"The other two grabbed oilskins, but I had to make the trip without a slicker, and it got pretty cold out there," Murphy explained.

"We just started rowing. We didn't know where we were going, so we jlst rowed, and hoped for the best."

They rowed about 150 miles, and they didn't think it was an adventure at the time.

"Nothing happened. We just rowed," said Cotreau, who was in a hurry to get home to his mother, Mrs. Mary Cotreau, who is 73, and wanted him back for Mothers' Day.

She is the widow of a fisherman, drowned 35 years ago.

A crowd of fishermen were waiting for the three as they stepped down on the wharf, and took them off for a regular fishermen's celebration, but not before they had finished telling their story.

HOPES WERE FADING

All the way to land, the dory did not meet a single craft, and even when the fog lifted, there was nothing in sight on the trackless sea to show the three fishermen whether they were headed for land or not.

"It was a great feeling to hit land finally," Murphy said.

AGED WOMAN SAVED FROM DEATH IN FIRE

In a dramatic battle with death, two firemen donned gas masks today and fought their way to a third floor bedroom to rescue an elderly woman as fire swept the Maxwell House, Beach street, Revere.

She was unconscious from smoke inhalation when they reached her and they had to work over her for half an hour before she was revived.

Two alarms were rapidly sounded as fire and smoke swept through the three-story wooden roming house, doing $1500 damage.

Patrolmen James Grny and Otis Sutton reached the house first and roused the 22 other occupants, who fled to safety in their nightclothes.

The officers broke down a door in a vain attempt to reach Mrs. Agnes Erickson, 63, but heavy smoke drove them back as they crawled to her room on hands and knees.

Deputy Chief George Porter and Private George Mulcahy ran to the top floor and located Mrs. Erickson, sprawled unconscious near a window.

The two carried her to the street where a crew worked with an inhalator for 30 minutes before she regained consciousness.

She was then taken in a police ambulance to Massachusetts General Hospital, where she was held for treatment.

VETS TO FETE GOVERNOR

Ex-Sen. Dill To Wed Expert On Economics

SEATTLE, May 13 (AP)—Former U. S. Senator Clarence C. Dill and Miss Mabel Aileen Dickson of Spokane planned a "quiet marriage" here, probably today.

Dill, whose divorce suit against Mrs. Rosalie Gardner Jones Dill brought sensational testimony three years ago, would not discuss the time or place for the wedding. But Miss Dickson said:

"We just want a quiet wedding. But now that the story is out I suppose we might as well make the best of it."

The marriage plans were revealed in Spokane by Dr. Frances Eastman Rose, an associate of Miss Dickson. Dr. Rose said Miss Dickson met Dill two years ago in Washington, where she was assistant to the head of the Federal Home Economics Experiment Stations. Miss Dickson received her master's degree from Washington State College in 1932 and has taught at the Universities of Michigan and Ohio, ut she declined to tell newspapermen her age.

Dill, about 55, wed Rosalie Jones, Long Island, N. Y., suffrage leader, in March, 1927, at Gold Harbor, L. I. They were divorced in June, 1936, two years after Dill retired as U. S. Senator. He charged cruel and inhuman treatment, saying she was stingy and "queer."

Woman Leads Fight On Secret Trade Pact

NEW YORK, May 13 (INS)—Miss Cathrine Curtis, national director of the Women Investors in America, Inc., today sent a telegram to 29 United States senators and eight representatives opposing proposed transfer of foreign commerce and agricultural services to the State Department.

She declared such a transfer would endanger United States foreign commerce by removing it from control of Congress and placing it "under the cloak of so-called diplomatic relations with foreign nations."

Miss Curtis' telegram follows:

American women realize secret trade pacts mean secret alliances and often lead to wars. Therefore, we oppose transfer of foreign commerce and agricultural services to State Department as proposed in government reorganization plan number two.

DANGER IN SECRECY

These services now rendering vital assistance to our industries and people under present departments by open dissemination of factual information relative to actual foreign trade and market conditions.

We fear proposed transfers will end present policy since State Department procedure is to cloak all things in secrecy.

Believe transfer may be first step toward ending control by Congress of regulation of our commerce with foreign nations as provided for in Constitution and withholding information from Congress and the people under cloak of so-called diplomatic relations with foreign nations.

We are convinced this transfer will affect seriously our industries and through secret trade pacts eventually so involve us in affairs of other nations we cannot escape active participation in their wars.

FEARS ENTANGLEMENTS

Subordinating our foreign commerce to diplomatic relations can only serve to advance the cause of internationalism and center our attention on problems of other nations.

It will further divert us from our own problems which must be solved immediately if we are to avoid national bankruptcy and a change in our constitutional form of government.

In addition we are convinced the alleged saving of a million and a quarter dollars will evaporate by perpetuating agencies now temporary.

In view of demand of American womanhood that we avoid all foreign entanglements and concentrate on solving our own problems first we urge defeat of these transfers and of entire reorganization plan number two if necessary to defeat these transfers.

Chelan Officer Held in Halifax

Held in connection with alleged mishandling of $30,000 reported missing from the safe of the coast guard cutter Chelan, Warrant Officer Joseph A. Harris, 45, of Tremont street, Malden, was held for extradition proceedings at Halifax, N. S., today.

Canadian officers took him there from Moncton, N. B., where he was arrested in a hotel room.

Coast guard investigators said $24,000 was found on his person. They claimed Harris told them $8000 was still in a safe aoard the Chelan.

BEAT CAB DRIVER, RUIN CAR

Violence flared again today in Cambridge's Yellow Cab strike, as a non-union driver was pulled from his cab and beaten.

Victim of the beating was James D. McDonal of Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge. He told police a passenger engaged his cab at Harvard square, directing him to drive to Ivy street, Cambridge.

There McDonal was told to stop at a corner, he said.

As he did so, according to his story, a passenger auto pulled up and five men jumped out. They and McDonal's passenger joined in beating and kicking him into semi-consciousness.

They took his cab and left him lying on the sidewalk.

So badly wrecked was the cab, company officials said it would be a total loss.

The strike is in its fourth week, with no settlement in sight. Approximately 45 drivers were reported out, with an equal number sticking to their jobs.

Radcliffe girls, driving a horse-drawn carryall, joined other college students and truckmen's union pickets in patrolling Yellow Cab stands, carrying placards charging the company with unfairness to organized labor.

U. S. Backs Windsor As Peace Champion

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN
Special to Boston Evening American

WASHINGTON, May 13—Party lines have disappeared at the Capitol as thoughtful leaders join in a common cause of Americanism against manufactured propaganda for drawing the United States into the next European conflict, if and when it comes.

The combating of this effort to influence the national psychology and inculcate the doctrine that American participation in the next war would be inevitable, has received strong support from the recent broadcast to the United States by the Duke of Windsor.

Strong commendation of the warning given in that broadcast against poisonous war propaganda, and the use of words that "can only arouse just those dangerous political passions that it should be the aim of all of us to subdue," continued to come today from both ends of the capitol, and from both sides of Senate and House.

Representative Louis Ludlow, Democrat of Indiana, author of the pending House bill for a popular referendum before a war of aggression may be declared by Congress, said:

"The Duke of Windsor's suggestions in regard to the harmful effects of war propaganda in his radio address on Monday were well put and timely. His speech ought to have a calculatory effect in curbing the tendency on the part of some public officials toward ill-advised and intemperate statements.

"I cannot imagine a better or more opportune time for such a speech. I am exceedingly glad the Duke of Windsor had the courage and initiative to give this message to the world. I heard his broadcast. It was a perfectly admirable, timely and human appeal and ought to have a splendid effect, not only on the American people but the people throughout the world."

Senator James J. Davis, Republican, of Pennsylvania, member of the Senate naval affairs committee, made this comment:

"We should get our minds off of all this propaganda talk from abroad about war and begin to give serious thought to the problems that concern us here at home.

"The biggest problem, in fact the only real problem we have to be concerned about is not all this talk of threatened war, but of the unemployment of so many millions of our own people; our staggering national debt; our tremendous tax burden, much of it resultant from our venture into Europe's last big quarrel; our stagnated industry, and the distressing plight of our agriculture.

"We can better concern ourselves with working out solutions for these problems than with getting ourselves involved in foreign entanglements over matters that are none of our concern."

We're Dealers in Happiness

In this best of all possible worlds, there still are a number of things we'd like to see adjusted.

We haven't been able to manage it all—and most of it is outside my province, anyway.

But I DO like to sit back, every now and then and think that being in the furniture business MEANS something—maybe intangible—but probably more REAL—more than just "selling furniture":

I'm proud of the fact that we've created thousands of homes where people live happily amid surroundings that suit their tastes and express their own personalities.

Our business really is making Home, SWEET Home for YOU—and I really believe we're GOOD at it. You're always welcome in a Kane store—not necessarily to buy, but to drop in and talk over your home-furnishing problems with our experienced staff-members.

Our counsel and help are given as freely and cheerfully as the credit we extend.

ANTI-WAR LETTER BARRAGE HITS CONGRESS

Million Ask U. S. Stay At Home

WASHINGTON, May 13—A fresh landslide of letters demanding that "America Keep Out of War" buried senators and congressmen today as citizens throughout the nation made clear their absolute opposition to American participation in foreign combat.

Within the last 60 days more than a million letters have arrived on Capitol Hill, and demanding an unqualified anti-war stand from national representatives.

This was revealed as the Senate military affairs committee put finishing touches on a drastic bill permitting conscription of private wealth in time of war.

CASH AND CARRY PLAN

Skirmishing over neutrality legislation behind the scenes revealed much support for the bill of Senator Gillette (D.) of Iowa, to permit sale of arms and all other commodities to belligerents on a "cash and carry" basis, with the President authorized to designate "combat zones" into which American ships and American citizens would be forbidden to enter.

Senators from the more populous states revealed they have been deluged with letters from constituents strongly urging rigid neutrality for this nation. The ratio of letters from the less populous areas was in proportion to population.

The 96 senators, striking an average of about 5000 each, have received 500,000 communications from constituents—all bearing the same appeal of "Keep America Out of War."

18,000 LETTERS FOR WALSH

Senator Wagner (D) of New York has received more than 20,000 of these letters, according to estimates of his office force. Every mail brings a fresh flood of "Stay Out of War" letters, it was revealed.

Speeches made in the Senate by Senators Walsh (D) of Massachusetts and Hiram Johnson (R) of California drew to them many thousands of letters indoreing their vigorous opposition to entangling foreign alliances and involvement in a European war should it break out.

Warm praise was given to Senator George (D) of Georgia, in hundreds of letters for his vigorous stand in the Senate against taking part in a foreign war.

Clerks of Senator Walsh estimated he has received more than 18,000 "Keep America Out of War" letters during the last 60 days. Senator Lucas (D) of Illinois, has received between 10,000 and 15,000.

'NAZI' FOES KIDNAP PUTNAM

suggested that I give up publishing the book. Then I could tell we were driving off the main road.

"They walked me, blindfolded, for a short distance and then made me lie down on a board.

"They taped my legs and hands and mouth tightly and left, telling me I would be found in the morning.

CRIES ATTRACT RESCUERS

"I managed to work loose the bandage on my mouth after an hour or so. I'm not sure how long. I called for help and some people came. Then they called the officers.

"I discovered when they freed me that because I was in an unfinished house, I would have been found as soon as it was daylight. Obviously they did not intend to hurt me."

Cole and other friends in Hollywood were en route here to return Putnam to his home.

He was found but a few minutes after Los Angeles police had issued a state-wide teletype that he was missing. His absence was reported when he failed to return to his home at midnight and a check determined that he had not visited Cole.

San Fernando Valley division detectives, searching the garage, found his hat crumpled and his glasses broken and feared that he had been assaulted. Only yesterday he had obtained a license from the district attorney's office to carry a gun, but said he did not have it with him last night.

THREAT BY "GERMANS"

Putnam, former New York publisher and Bend, Ore., mayor, early this month was reported planning to wed for the third time. His bride, friends said, would be Mrs. Jean-Marie Consigny James of Beverly Hills, whose divorce from William Robert James, son of U. S. District Judge William P. James, becomes final May 18.

Putnam in recent weeks had ridiculed threats against his life. The incident of the intruder at his home occurred April 12. A few days later, his secretary received a threatening telephone call, followed during the next week by other messages.

On April 20, Putnam turned over to the district attorney's office an anonymous letter which read in part:

"If you have any regard for your future safety, stop publication of this book at once. The arm of greater Germany reaches far and we have no desire to continue warning you. If you are wise you will do what we tell you because something can happen to you and your future may be extinguished."

Three days later, the bullet riddled copy of the book, punctured with eight holes, and a crudely-pasted note were sent to his home.

"NAZI" DEATH THREAT

The note, composed of letters cut from newspapers and magazines read:

"Mr. Putnam you're a criminal. You failed to read future. Bullet wound wou'd be fatal to you if you don't abandon the book 'The Man Who Killed Hitler.'

"Take no chances of a bloody killing if you want to live. Your opportunity awaits you. Take it or leave it.

"Germany defies the world!

"Los Angeles Nazis hell!"

The intruder at his home was believed at the time to be a burglar.

For months after his wife, the world's premier woman aviatrix, disappeared July 2, 1937, between British New Guinea and Howland Island in the South Pacific, he refused to abandon hope that she had survived.

Last December, however, he filed her will for probate in superior court and on January 5 she was declared legally dead by Probate Judge Elliott Craig.

Duce Turin Speech May Shift Peril

Premier Benito Mussolini put the finishing touches today to the speech he will deliver at 10 a. m. (6 a. m. E. D. T.) tomorrow at Turin.

There was a distinct possibility he might shift the spotlight from eastern Europe to Africa and thus lift international pressure, for a little while at least, from his axis partner Adolf Hitler.

The Rome-Berlin affair is now such a well-oiled machine that it may be taken for granted Hitler knows exactly what Il Duce is going to say. And for this reason, the Fuehrer's own immediate plans are of vast importance.

HITLER ON DEFENSE TOUR

Hitler will leave Berlin on Monday for a two weeks' inspection tour of Germany's defenses, both east and west, carrying forward his policy of "wearing down" outside resistance by constant military activities.

He seems determined to continue scraping away at the frayed nerves of Poland until that nation consents to solution of the Danzig problem in the Fuehrer's own way.

His cause will be aided immeasurably, of course, if Mussolini has decided to revive his territorial claims upon France at the present time.

Britain and France have had more or less easy sailing thus far in creation of their "anti-aggression bloc" largely because Il Duce has taken things easy instead of pushing his demands to the fore.

NEW POLISH PROTEST

Meantime the British-French bloc sought closer ties with its new ally, Turkey, as a Polish protest to the Danzig senate sharpened the issue between Germany and Poland over the free city.

In London, following yesterday's announcement by Prime Minister Chamberlain that Turkey and Britain would aid each other in the event of "aggression leading to war in the Mediterranean area," political commentators predicted Turkey would gain important British trade and munitions loans.

A Danzig senate order forbidding a memorial service last night for the Polish hero, Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, on grounds it might cause disorder brought a Polish protest and charge that the Danzig government could not "guarantee peace."

U. S. Buildings Burned In Japanese Air Raid

CHUNGKING, China, May 13 (AP)—Japanese bombers were estimated today to have caused 800 casualties during the night in a raid on Chungking suburbs.

Flames razed warehouses of William Hunt and Company, American shipping firm, which operates a large fleet of coastal and river steamers.

Bombs fell within 100 yards of the French naval barracks, damaging a private French house but causing no casualties among foreigners.

Hundreds of Chinese were left homeless by the raid.

Three wrecked Japanese bombers were found in the hills near Chungking, indicating improvement in the Chinese anti-aircraft fire.

U. S. Destroyer Rushed To Amoy District

SHANGHAI, May 13 (AP)—Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, today dispatched a destroyer to obtain information of the situation at Amoy, where the international settlement of Kulangsu was occupied yesterday by Japanese naval forces.

Americans share in the administration of Kulangsu. Seven live there and one is a member of its international council.

Rothschild in Paris; Plans to Sue Germans

PARIS, May 13 (AP)—Baron Louis Rothschild, white-haired and visibly aged after more than a year's imprisonment by Nazi secret police in Vienna, arrived in Paris today from Zurich, Switzerland, where he had flown last night from Vienna.

Special police guards conducted the released bankers and his associates through the customs formalities.

The party drove immediately to the mansion of Baron Eugene in the Auteuil section of Paris, where the Baroness Eugene de Rothschild, the former Katherin Wolff of Philadelphia, greeted the guests.

Shortly afterward the two brothers left for what associates said might be a drive to the nearby home of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, intimate friends of both Rothschild families.

Baron Rothschild — Baroness Rothschild

They did not stop there, however.

Baron Louis was accompanied to Paris by several Rothschild attorneys, whom he has instructed to sue the German government in an attempt to recover at least part of his confiscated fortune.

"BETTER TAX VISIBILITY"

TAXATION IS DEPRESSIVE—TAXATION IS DEFLATIONARY!

It has been said that the power to TAX is the power to DESTROY!

All over the country business is being destroyed by EXCESSIVE TAXATION!

The average man is not aware that the tax collector is also knocking at his door.

HIDDEN TAXES are another form of government assessment that extract the tax in a seemingly painless manner from the average man because . . .

- on every loaf of bread there are no less than 49 different hidden taxes.
- he pays four cents on every gallon of gasoline.
- if he buys a package of cigarettes daily he pays $21.90 in hidden taxes yearly.
- if he buys a new suit of clothes, he absorbs 12 different hidden taxes.
- if he pays $400 a year in rent he pays $160 in hidden taxes.
- one-sixth of the electric light bills go to the tax collector.
- there are approximately 86 different taxes on each pair of shoes.
- nearly 10 cents of every dollar paid for a railroad ticket goes for taxes.
- he pays approximately $5 taxes on every set of automobile tires he buys.

WHAT HELPS BUSINESS HELPS YOU!

LESS TAXES MEAN MORE JOBS — AND THE PEOPLE COULD KEEP FOR THEMSELVES MORE OF THE INCOME THEY PRODUCE. PURCHASING POWER WOULD ALSO BE INCREASED. BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY WOULD HAVE MORE MONEY FOR EXPANSION AND MORE MONEY TO RAISE WAGES OF PRESENT EMPLOYES.

Buying Boom on In Wool Business

Wool, both fibre and goods markets, furnishes headline trade news for the New England area this week-end . . . Developments in and related to the industry completely over-shadow all other happenings along the business front.

BOTH THE . . . raw wool market in Boston and the finished goods market in New York enjoyed a spurt in activity . . . In the first demand has been somewhat specialized and price advances spotty . . . But both topmakers and mills increased the tempo of their buying in all categories . . . Some dealers in the Summer street district are reported to have begun taking orders in graded wools for summer delivery even though the staple has not been received here for sorting . . . One estimator places the volume moved in the past two weeks in the vicinity of 20,000,000 pounds . . . This better situation is no accident . . . And the trail leads to improved mill operating schedules and outlook . . . Which in turn is based on a solid consumption situation . . .

Solomon Agoos

DEMAND . . . For wool textiles expanded sufficiently during the week to warrant the New York Wool Top Exchange reporting a number of mills have sold the bulk of their output through July . . . Which is a promise of a fairly active manufacturing summer . . . Clothing houses are said to have received numerous orders for fall garments from retailers . . . And promptly covered on piece goods . . . Some estimates place men's wear orders at 30,000,000 yards . . . More than 10 weeks production at present rates . . . And about double the business on the books a year ago . . . In every respect wool presents a reassuring picture . . . One so fundamentally sound nearby weeks may find it flowering in brightest optimism . . .

ONE OF . . . The top honors in the industrial world, an appointment to the board of directors of the National Association of Manufacturers . . . Has been bestowed on a Bostonian . . . Solomon Agoos, president of the Allied Kid Co., is the local leader who recently received the signal honor . . . He will serve on the board of an organization which represents several thousands of the nation's prominent industrial concerns . . . And which plays an all important part in framing the policies of leading manufacturers.

LEADERSHIP . . . In making mortgages on property falling in the residential classification is still held by co-operative banks . . . According to statistics released by the Home Loan Bank for this district . . . All Massachusetts lending agencies showed an encouraging increase in the latest report . . . But 79 per cent of the business gained is credited to co-operatives . . . Warner M. Allen, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Co-operative Bank League, thinks the figures substantial evidence that pioneer legislation in this state was unquestionably both forward looking and practical . . .

Politicians Create Art of 'Unselling'

Politicians, essaying economic planning, have unwittingly developed the useless art of un-selling.

This negative process results in discouraging exchanges of goods and services among private citizens and coporations.

There are numerous examples of the new state of affairs.

For example, the red tape under which the SEC operates and the new complexion of the membership of the commission apparently induced the Commonwealth Edison Company to pay a premium to get bond money through private sale this week, instead of borrowing in the normal manner through investment bankers.

Though there appeared to be no monetary saving in this procedure, the management may have felt that it saved trouble, and perhaps reduced officer and director liability. At any rate, the new regime unsold the company on the custom of dealing through investment banking firms.

Secondly, high and burdensome capital gains taxes deter numerous individuals from making transfers of property which they otherwise would make in the course of business. The necessity of sharing a profit with the tax garnerers unsells the holder from the normal impulse to convert an asset into cash.

Fewer transactions thus result. Likewise, high income taxes induce men in the upper brackets to remain idle instead of engaging in business adventures which offer the speculative lure of profit. Thus, they are unsold on venturesomeness.

Thirdly, monetary uncertainty contributes to the factors deterring long term commitments. Artificial depression of interest rates weakens the incentive for small savers to make accumulations, and tends to un-sell the concept of thrift.

Fourthly, political business baiting and publicity as to corporate salaries tend to reduce the non-pecuniary rewards for distinguished business service.

Stocks Edge Higher In Slow Trading

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—Stock market leaders edged forward today in another one of the slowest-going sessions in nearly a year.

Short covering and a little investment nibbling apparently were responsible for the mild improvement which appeared shortly after the opening. While fractional gains predominated in the final hour, numerous issues were unchanged to a shade lower.

Helping the market picture, brokers said, were faintly revived hopes of tax revision, a program for which was expected to be discussed at a White House conference called for Monday. The European scene was believed to have been a neutral influence and spotty business was without much market interest.

On the upside were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, International Harvester, Deere, Douglas Aircraft, Eastman Kodak, Union Carbide, Consolidated Edison and Standard Oil of N. J.

Bonds were selectively better. Cotton futures exhibited strength, but other commodities were mixed.

Considered by analysts were Federal Reserve Board figures disclosing department store sales for the country as a whole, in the week ended May 6, dropped 3 per cent below the comparable period a year ago when trade was far from satisfactory. In the preceding week there was an increase of 4 per cent over 1938.

With the single exception of the Philadelphia Federal Reserve district, where sales were reported 36 per cent above the previous year, declines were experienced in all districts. These ranged from 1 per cent in Atlanta and St. Louis to 12 per cent in Kansas City.

Not so pleasing also was the National Machine Tool Builders' Association summary for April showing both foreign and domestic orders in this month fell 16 per cent from the March aggregate. It was the sharpest recession in this barometer since February, last year.

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM

WASHINGTON, May 13 (INS)—The federal government today considered a compromise in its $0,000,000 tax battle with the Associated Gas and Electric Company.

A Treasury Department spokesman revealed that the company had proposed a plan for settling the controversy through immediate payment of a substantial sum.

The case is one of the largest ever handled by the Treasury and involves the earnings of Associated Gas and its hundreds of subsidiary companies.

An assessment of aproximately $50,000,000 was lodged against the power system after the Internal Revenue Bureau combed income tax statements covering years as far back as 1921.

According to the Treasury spokesman, the assessment covers interest as well as jeopardy claims some of which call for payment of considerably more than the government expected to obtain.

The company's compromise offer currently is being studied by Treasury tax experts and it was indicated in some quarters that there may be a settlement within a short time.

Earlier this week, the Internal Revenue Bureau dropped tax claims of more than $2,200,000 against the company, ruling that certain of the organization's earnings in 1927 and 1928 had been overstated in tax reports.

COAL RULE BY CIO FACING ROLL CALL

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—A roll call of operators will determine today whether the entire eight-state Appalachian soft coal industry and its 346,000 miners, or only portions of it are to be included in the union shop domain of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of America.

The extent of the victory won by the CIO president, after a six weeks shutdown that became nation-wide a week ago was left in doubt by the opposition of certain southern coal operators.

Operators generally predicted that Pennsylvania, Ohio and northern West Virginia would go along, but the southerners from five states that produce more than half of the Appalachian area's coal supply formed a question mark.

Offered for signatories was a two-year wage and hour contract that contained two sentences demanded by Lewis as the price of peace.

They embodied the principle of the union shop for the multi-billion dollar industry that employs 460,000 men and recognition of the country's largest labor organization as the exclusive bargaining agent.

It was approved yesterday with one exception by the sub-committee of eight men who since March 28 have labored to give the union the protection it sought against incursions by the AFL progressive miners union or other labor organizations.

The exception was Lee C. Gunter of Knoxville, Tenn., soft-voiced representative of the southern high volatile group of coal companies of Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia and southern West Virginia.

Cool in Sight, B. & A. Restores Full Service

Settlement of labor difficulties in the bituminous coal industry has relieved a threatened shortage on the Boston & Albany Railroad, officials of the company announced today.

E. E. Pierce, general passenger agent, said temporarily curtailed passenger train service would be restored Monday.

Douglas Shows Record Income

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—Douglas Aircraft, Inc., today reported consolidated net profit for fiscal quarter ended Feb. 28 of $771,522 after charges and write-off of $507,907 for research, equalling $1.35 a capita' share.

This was the highest earnings for any quarter in the company's history and compares with $606,771 or 71 cents a share for the comparable period a year ago.

Newspaper Ads Boost Business of Banks

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The public relations department of the Federal Home Loan Bank board reported today that more savings, building and loan associations had set aside special newspaper advertising and business promotional funds this year than ever before.

One factor accodnting for this development, the department reported, was the increased business obtained through such expenditures in 1938.

By GEORGE LEWIS

YOU COULD KNOW the Beechers by their strange translucent eyes.

These eyes were a family characteristic, as were brilliant brains and driving, fiery wills.

An absorbing—and revealing—biographical series, beginning in TOMORROW'S Boston Sunday Advertiser's GREEN MAGAZINE, recalls for you the amazing and colorful roles the Beechers played in New England's social and religious development, as well as in the history of the nation.

You'll learn heretofore unpublished facts about Henry Ward Beecher, preacher, writer, lecturer, reformer, patriot.

You'll be glad to get better acquainted with the amazing Beecher family, originally of Connecticut but often and intimately associated with Boston and New England.

DON'T FORGET to look for the first chapter of the STORY OF THE BEECHERS in the Boston Sunday Advertiser's GREEN MAGAZINE tomorrow.

HEARTACHES OF HIGH SOCIETY! There are plenty of them behind the scenes.

Tense dramas and tragedies of thwarted ambition, intrigue, clandestine love, burning jealousy, unrequited affection, bitter rivalry are forever being enacted to the tinkle of champagne glasses and the murmur of polite social greetings.

Henry Ward Beecher

Harriet Beecher Stowe

But high society likes to keep its secrets. Only on rare occasions can they be revealed.

YOU WILL HAVE OPPORTUNITY to avail yourself of one such occasion, when you read the GREEN MAGAZINE of TOMORROW'S Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Cholly Knickerbocker, No. 1 Society Columnist of AAmerica, will entertain and amuse you—perhaps startle you a little—with this frank and outspoken article, "Tragedies of Society".

He holds the mirror up to one of the world's most wealthy and privileged groups, the "GLITTER-BUGS" of Park avenue, Newport and the playspots of the fashionable world.

SUNRISE over the Atlantic. A woman's body on the beach. Maine's "Lobster King" found his wife dead. Was it suicide? Accident? Or MURDER?

Police were mystified for a time. But Fate's finger dramatically pointed out the answer.

Read the story as told by veteran reporter and feature writer, Paul Whelton, in tomorrow's Boston Sunday Advertiser Green Magazine.

A SLEEPING BABY inspired a dance tune that's a radio and band hit all over the United States.

Read how the song and music were composed. You'll learn the story behind the tune when you open your GREEN MAGAZINE from tomorrow's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

The song is "Little Skipper".

SUMMER CLOTHES! There's a subject that interests men as well as women!

Two articles in the news section of TOMORROW'S Boston Sunday Advertiser tell what the girls will be wearing, the vacation season, and how the boy-friend, dad, or brother can conservatively brighten up their wardrobe, too.

Marjorie McBride, brilliant and observant young Boston Sunday Advertiser staff writer, will tell you how Greater Boston college girls are solving summer fashion problems.

It's an answer to many a feminine perplexity—and it's a promise of bedazzlement for hungry masculine eyes!

THEN, TOO, for men readers, there's an article, giving you the STRAW HAT LOWDOWN!

The season "opens" for straw hats Monday. But don't think you can get by with the same old black-ribboned sailor or panama.

Not a bit of it, mister. This years' straw hat styles for men are what the advertisement writers like to call "exciting". New colors, new shapes, new materials.

You'd better get in line. You'll have the new broken to you painlessly in the news section of TOMORROW'S Boston Sunday Advertiser.

WHAT DO YOU LIKE IN THE FIFTH? Or the first? Or the sixth? Those are the questions you'll be hearing—and asking—when Suffolk Downs opens Monday and Boston's horse racing season gets really under way.

Dave Wilson, ace U. S. newspaper handicapper, gives you INSIDE DOPE straight from the feedbox in the SPORTS SECTION of tomorrow's Boston Sunday Advertiser. You'll want to paste this article, "Horses to Watch", in your hat. Or carry it in your handbag.

SMART SET magazine section of the Boston Sunday Advertiser goes on a party tomorrow! You can go along, too, thanks to Smart Set's alert and skillful cameraman. He tells you the story of the first of 1939's swanky debutante shindigs—in pictures.

AND BY NO MEANS OVERLOOK The American Weekly, America's foremost Sunday newspaper supplement. You get it with your Boston Sunday Advertiser, as usual.

THIS WEEK The American Weekly features include HIS OWN STORY by Casey at the Bat, immortal U. S. baseball character. And a former Vassar girl's amazing story of her adventures as a Paris mannequin.

YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS tomorrow's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

A Bird of a Yarn

Parrot Tells It to Judge—So Mr. X Gets His Divorce

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 13 (INS)—For perhaps the first time in legal history, a parrot today was on record as a "witness" in court and Lora, as loud-billed a bird as ever squawked for a cracker, made the precedent memorable.

It was started when Carol X (that's how the name appeared in court papers) returned lately from a trip to Istanbul Turkey, and his wife greeted him with excessive affection.

Between the hugs and kisses Lora stunned her with

"Ouim after the tempest! Carol is in Istanbul!"

And that is why Mr. X now has a divorce. He Carol said, remembered that his best friend often used the quoted expression at those same other circumstances indicating infidelity.

In the divorce suit which followed it took a bit of stage management by the judge to make the parrot "testify." After her first performance failed, Lora decided it would be better to keep her bill shut. But the judge ordered Carol's erstwhile friend to walk up to the witness stand and the parrot couldn't resist the urge. Mrs. X confessed infidelity when Lora croaked once more:

"Ouim after the tempest! Carol is in Istanbul!"

Famous Crown Displayed Here

The crown of the Andes, most valuable imperial crown known, was displayed at the Copley Plaza today by Shreve, Crump & Low Company.

The crown was created in 1592 A. D. It contains the largest collection of emeralds in the world and was purchased out of a 100-pound solid block of gold.

The principal jewel in the crown is the famous Atahualpa emerald weighing over 4 carats. The 453 emeralds weigh 1501 carats and used at $500 per carat.

The jewel was fashioned by the people of Papayan in devotion to the Blessed Mother who they called Our Lady of the Assumption when they were saved from the ravages of fever.

SPELLMAN CONFIRMS TOMORROW

Archbishop Francis J. Spellman will make one of his last public appearances before leaving for New York when he administers confirmation to the children of his parish—the Sacred Heart in Newton—tomorrow afternoon.

The archbishop was still on a retreat today, but he planned to interrupt it to return tomorrow morning for the services belonging to confirmation of children.

Archbishop Spellman was given a big send-off yesterday in the Sacred Heart school auditorium in which more than 600 children joined.

Not to be outdone the prelate in turn gave the children a surprise party as they concluded the program of tribute, by granting them the rest of the day as a holiday and announcing Sister Superior Virginia Marie had agreed to grant them holidays on May 22 and 23.

On May 22 the Archbishop will leave the Sacred Heart parish, where he has been pastor, to take up his duties in New York, and on the 23d he will be installed, with impressive ceremonies, as Archbishop of New York, at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Trans-Lux Feature Ranks With Best of Mystery Hits

By PEGGY DOYLE

One of those mystery films that the British do so skilfully, "Dead Men Tell No Tales," is now on view at the Trans-Lux Theater.

It is a British National production, an adaptation by Walter Summers and Strafford Dickins from the Francis Beeding novel "Norwich Victims," and has for its star Evelyn Williams, seen on Broadway several seasons back in the "legit" thriller, "Night Must Fall."

Don't be misled by the uninspired title. "Dead Men Tell No Tales" is a thoroughly absorbing, well fabricated story with sustained mystery and expert characterizations.

* * *

As the story opens, Miss Haslett, a plain, middle-aged teacher in a boys' school outside of London, has inherited a large money prize in a lottery. She is deluged with letters from persons who would increase her money by various investments. Dr. Headlam, who has succeeded his father as the head of the school, generously takes time out to advise her against charlatans. She is deeply and rather pathetically appreciative of his obvious concern.

There are many kindly warnings from the school faculty as she departs for a holiday in Paris. Arrived in London, she is met at the station by a suave, elegantly tailored gentleman who identifies himself as one of her recent correspondents. He appears to have a curvature of the spine, leans heavily on a cane and peers out of barely opened eyes. Almost before the shy little spinster realizes what has happened, she finds herself ensconced in his dim and strangely uninviting suite of rooms.

* * *

Several days later students and faculty at the school reckon their London loses of her as solved murder.

A Scotland Yard investigator, aided by the headmaster uncovers startling information at the school, the mystery building up to a smash climax. To tell you more would tip you to the solution.

"Dead Men Tell No Tales" will keep you on the edge of your comfortable Trans-Lux chair to the finish. It has all the suspense of a Louisville Derby.

ALLAN JONES SIGNS WITH PARAMOUNT

By Louella O. Parsons

Allan Jones

HOLLYWOOD, May 13—Allan Jones, who never rated top singing honors on the M. G. M. lot because Nelson Eddy got there first, has just signed with Paramount on a long term contract. His first picture is "Are Husbands Necessary," with Madeleine Carroll and Fred MacMurray. Smart move on Allan's part. I don't say since Para has never had a singing star under contract and he's sure to get better breaks than Leo the Lion found for him.

Yet it is amusing that he sings only one song in "Are Husbands Necessary." His real chance won't come until his second picture, "Wife, Husband and Friend," wherein he can [illegible] his heart's content under the direction of E. H. Griffith. A Little Bird Told Him by Anne Stretton, who wrote 'PROPOSAL'

Camilla

CHAPTER 26

The air of the still mild November morning was calm and dead as Simon drew up before the flat, half-shuttered front of the house of Gurney rise.

He rang the bell and kept on ringing it, glancing up from window to window. No one looked out.

In the glass panes of the door he saw his own face reflected, startlingly against the dimness of the interior.

At last he heard the slow sound of footsteps and, after a little while, the face of an old woman looked at him through the glass. Slowly she unbolted the door.

'Where's Miss Camilla?'

'Oh, the young lady. She has gone for a walk, sir.'

'Which way did she go?'

'She went towards the river,' the singing voice answered. The woman bowed to him. 'Over there.' She pointed. 'You will hear it clear from here, sir.'

Simon raised his hat as the woman closed the door behind her and stood looking after her. Then he turned and walked across the road to the garden. Camilla would be there. Camilla would be waiting for him. Camilla would be dressed in—

At Simon closed the gate to the garden Camilla waited on the path, her eyes on the river. She turned up a long, [illegible]

SCRATCH CHALLENGE FROM RICH PREAKNESS

PIMLICO, Md., May 13 (INS)—With a fast track in prospect for this afternoon's renewal of the Preakness, Belair stud's mud-running Challenge today was scratched from the rich turf fixture, leaving a field of six.

BALTIMORE, May 13 (INS)—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and a committee of bondholders of the Pimlico race track asked the Maryland Racing Commission to permit it to refuse to sell show tickets on Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons' brilliant Preakness entry of Johnstown, Gilded Knight and Challenge.

The commission's decision [illegible] be made early today. If the field is reduced to less than five, no show tickets will be sold.

The entry will go to the post this afternoon at least a 1-to-5 betting proposition to win, and perhaps even be a shorter price. The record short price in the history of the classic which began in 1873 is the $2.70 win money on War Admiral two years ago. The Admiral closed at 1 to 3¼.

LAW HELPS BETTERS

There is a state law which rules that the Maryland pari-mutuel machines must pay off at least a dollar on a dollar. However, there will be such a small field in the 64th renewal of America's richest 3-year-old horse race that the track will be certain to [illegible] [illegible] show wagers would be set on Johnstown and his coupled entrance mates to show.

It is probable Johnstown will be backed down to perhaps 1 to 10 to show whereas the law rules that the track cannot pay less than 1 to 20 odds [illegible] on each winning dollar bet.

Not even Man O'War, who held the low payoff Preakness record until War Admiral came along to beat out Pompoon by a whisker in 1927, ever had the supporters that Johnstown has in Baltimore.

Nobody can see how the big fellow who won the Kentucky Derby a [illegible] last week can possibly lose [illegible] War Admiral came perilously close to burning up hundreds of thousands of dollars for him as a sure thing.

However, Johnstown's case is a little different. The only colt that seems to have any chance against Big John is Gilded Knight. And if Gilded Knight, winner of the Chesapeake, wins the Preakness, Johnstown's backers will be paid off at once.

FITZSIMMONS PUZZLED

Nobody, not even Jim Fitzsimmons, can figure any way trying to give points to the hard-hitting dynamite [illegible] He could go back on Challenge, who so dramatically gave the Belmont [illegible] Derby winner a battle Saturday. But if the same horse [illegible] Gilded Knight again.

"Gilded Knight's got a chance, a real good chance," the old boy said.

Because of the [illegible] presence of Johnstown it will be the smallest field since 1915.

Johnstown is owned by William Woodward. The Wheatley Stables, operated by Mrs. Ogden Phipps [illegible] Gilded Knight.

DUROCHER SWEET ON EDDIE MILLER

With the passing of each baseball day, Leo Durocher grows more confident that his Brooklyn Dodgers will prove pennant factors.

By this time he has seen them all with the exception of the Cardinals. And what he's seen only adds to his conviction that the Flatbushers have the pitching, the power and defensive talents to meet rival contention all the way into the finish.

PICK GROVE TO KEEP SOX IN FLAG FIGHT

WASHINGTON, May 13—Bob Grove gets the call to pitch the Red Sox into the victory column as the Bostons open a three-game engagement here today, last call before heading for home.

Stinging left hook thrown by Solly Krieger slams Billy Conn, Irish battler from Pittsburgh, against the ring ropes in an early round of their over-the-weight, 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden. Conn easily decisioned the NBA middleweight champion. The latter's crown was not at stake. Conn also whipped Fred Apostoli, who is recognized in New York as middleweight king.

Great Eli Eight Faces Syracuse Tech at Derby

By the Associated Press

Yale's status in relation to the two top-ranking eastern sprint crews may be decided this evening when the Elis meet Syracuse and Massachusetts Tech at Derby, Ct., in the most important of four regattas on the schedule.

Yale opened its season last Saturday with a record-smashing performance in the Blackwell Cup race against Pennsylvania and Columbia.

On the same afternoon Harvard, unbeaten in two seasons, decisively defeated Syracuse and Princeton, and Cornell upset Navy's hopes for an all-victorious season.

SYRACUSE IS GOOD

Cornell previously had nosed out Syracuse, so this twilight's race sends the Elis against the crew which has come closest to their two rivals for the season's "sprint" honors.

It's the first meeting between Yale and Syracuse on the water, and the Orange varsity has given indications that it may develop into a good crew before the season ends at Poughkeepsie next month.

It may even be strong enough to test the Elis this evening, for Coach Ed Leader has made two changes in the Yale boat since last week's fine race.

A victory for Yale would firmly establish the Blue on even footing with Harvard and Cornell, each of which has won two races so far.

The second "major" regatta involves three crews which have been beaten one or two times each—Pennsylvania, Princeton and Columbia. They clash in the Childs cup race on the Harlem at New York.

PENN CUP FAVORITE

Pennsylvania now holds the trophy, oldest in sprint crew racing and is favored to repeat on the basis of its showing against Yale. The Childs Cup Regatta is antedated only by the Yale-Harvard duel and once ranked with it in importance.

In addition to the triangular varsity, Jayvee and freshman events, Cornell's 150-pound varsity and freshman eights will row against Columbia.

Lesser events on this evening's card are the Goldthwait Cup Regatta for the "Big Three" 150-pound crews on Lake Carnegie at Princeton, N. J., and the duel between Rutgers and Dartmouth at New Brunswick, N. J.

En route to New York to replay their final game for the Gaelic football championship of Ireland, the teams of Kerry and Galway are shown in a practice game in mid-ocean aboard the S. S. Washington. The Kerrys and Galways played the final in Dublin recently but the game broke up in a free-for-all

Kaplan Whips Cocoa Kid

The Cocoa Kid had the better of the going in the first five rounds. Kaplan then made a strong finish, and won the votes of Referee Johny Brassill and Judge Frank Montgomery. Judge Eddie Curley cast his ballot for the Cocoa Kid.

"Machine Gun" Henry Chmielewski, Polish middleweight, won his ninth straight bout since coming to the United States when he beat "Irish" Jimmy O'Boyne in an eight-round bout. Chmielewski carried every round. The Polish middleweight had O'Boyne in bad condition when the tussle ended.

Jerry Zullo of Chelsea won the decision over Dominick DiCiantis of Providence in six rounds.

Sam Shumway of Webster outscored Al Shanks of Montreal in six rounds.

"Irish" Jimmy Craven of Philadelphia won from Young Byron of Roxbury by the decision route in six sessions.

A crowd of 1644 persons paid a gross gate of $2639 to see the show. The net receipts were $1503.

Furfiber Tops, Says Wilson

By DAVE WILSON
SELECTIONS FOR FAST TRACK
BEST BET—FURFIBER, 7th Race

NARRAGANSETT PARK, May 13—Furfiber, as placed in the seventh race, easily shapes up as the most probable winner on the usual getaway card here today.

Winner by four lengths over Ramrod and other platers only a few days back, the Mrs. Will Hodson colorbearer needs only to run his race in order to click.

FIRST RACE

Old Dominion, Leo D., Good Omen

OLD DOMINION, a fresh thoroughbred, is shedding eight pounds in actual weight off his recent fourth to Shyna and looms best. LEO D. and GOOD OMEN figure pretty much alike. The rate as named.

SECOND RACE

Epitaph, Ghost Train Gala Star

EPITAPH, necked out by Bali o' Fire in most recent trip to the plate, shapes up vastly superior to the field down to contest honors in the second race. GHOST TRAIN beaten two lengths by the top one in the above race, again shapes up as the main danger. GALA STAR appears definitely on the improve and should crash into the picture.

THIRD RACE

Grisette, Float Away, Savitar

GRISETTE was raced off her feet by Mystery Miss in her most recent race, and she faltered right on the money to finish among the also rans. FLOAT AWAY came from far back to snare honors in that race. He hasn't a shift of a single pound against his chances. SAVITAR gets a high figure.

FOURTH RACE

Toddle On, Chief Nadi, Stage Beauty

TODDLE ON'S only start of the meeting was probably intended as a conditioner and should not be taken too seriously. This daughter of Bud Lerner was a high-grade mare last year, and brilliant trials indicate she's razor sharp. CHIEF NADI, necked out by Court Dance the other day, looms as the danger. STAGE BEAUTY, if ready, can take it all.

FIFTH RACE

War Minstrel, Be Jabbers, Pagliacci

WAR MINSTREL has trained brilliantly and should make amends for a recent disappointment. BE JABBERS and PAGLIACCI rate close up in a well-matched field.

SIXTH RACE

Skipped, Traggat, Harpen Belle

SKIPPED, a noted front-runner, should find this abbreviated route right to measure. TRAGGAT and HARPEN BELLE figure in that order.

SEVENTH RACE

Furfiber, Count Cotton, Araho Lass

FURFIBER will have COUNT COTTON to drub. The latter, a sprinter, may be found wanting over this route. ARAHO LASS is descending the claiming ladder.

EIGHTH RACE

Silent Shot, Indian Head, Wrought Iron

SILENT SHOT, on top form, looks good as anything. INDIAN HEAD holds considerable class, but has been away since last year. WROUGHT IRON can better his last race.

The "M" boys of St. Louis—Mel Mazzera of the Browns and Joe Medwick of the Cardinals—have taken a good grip on the major league batting lead.

Mazzera's .475 has no peer in either loop while Medwick's .394 has made him the tops in the National League, which he dominated in 1936 and 1937.

Browns' New Rookie Shuts Out Tigers With Two Hits

ST. LOUIS, May 13 (INS)—Rookie Hurler Jack Kramer turned in a two-hitter against the Detroit Tigers and supplied the punch which resulted in a 1 to 0 victory for the Browns.

Kramer bounced a safety in the fifth inning which sent across what proved to be the only run of the game.

Laab hit safely for the Tigers in the seventh for the first hit off Kramer and Walker came through with the second safe blow in the ninth.

Mize's Two Home Runs Puts Cards Out Front

CINCINNATI, May 13 (INS)—Curt Davis, the last of three Cardinal pitchers, stopped a Cincinnati rally in the ninth inning and St. Louis beat the Reds, 8 to 7, increasing its first place National League lead to one and a half games.

Johnny Mize's two homers paced the Cardinal attack and Pepper Martin weighed in with one four-bagger. Stu Martin knocked across a run with his triple.

The Cards pounded four Cincinnati twirlers for 14 hits, while the Reds collected 12.

Brown's Relief Work Saves Day for White Sox

CHICAGO, May 13 (INS)—Thanks to Clint Brown's brilliant relief hurling, the Chicago White Sox gained a 4 to 3 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

Coming in with bases filled and one out in the ninth and with the Indians but a run behind, Brown struck out Ben Chapman and threw out Ken Keltner at first base. Chapman was so unwilling to believe he had fanned that his stubborn protest resulted in his being expelled from the game.

A pass by Johnny Allen to Larry Rosenthal forced in what proved to be the winning run in the fifth inning, bases being loaded when Allen lost control. Rigney, saved by Brown, was credited with the triumph.

Phils Come From Behind To Trounce Giants, 10-6

NEW YORK, May 13 (INS)—The Philadelphia Phillies climbed out of eighth place in the National League and plunged the Giants into the cellar by defeating the New Yorkers, 10 to 6.

The Phillies had to come from behind for the Giants compiled a 4 to 1 lead going into the sixth inning, aided considerably by home runs off the bats of Bonura and Danning.

But Philadelphia unloosed a barrage of nine runs in the last four frames, Arnovich contributed a three-run homer in the Quaker offensive. Ott's homer with one on base in the ninth was the Giants' final besture.

Texas Tech Expelled From Sports Loop

TUCSON, Ariz., May 13 (AP)—Texas Tech was expelled from the Border Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, effective June 30, by faculty representatives early today for "repeated violations of the conference eligibility rules and regulations."

C. Z. Lesher, University of Arizona registrar and conference secretary, explained the Matadors had played two ineligible men in the Cotton Bowl football game with St. Mary's of California January 2 in Dallas.

Conference rules require a unanimous vote for expulsion.

HEARST TROPHY AWARDED N. H. U.

DURHAM, N. H., May 13—The University of New Hampshire's R. O. T. C. rifle team, which won second place in a national competition sponsored by William Randolph Hearst, was in proud possession today of a Hearst Trophy shield and individual medals.

Trophy and medals were presented by Ernest Hoftyzer, advertising director of the Hearst Newspapers in Boston.

The occasion was celebrated by a regimental review, attended by Dr. Fred Englehardt, president of the university. In command of the regiment was Colonel E. K. Smith, head of the university's department of military science.

Members of the rifle team which was honored included Cadet Warren C. Morse of Londonderry and Student Officers Conrad M. Goertz of Alton, James H. Batchelder of North Woodstock, Frank F. Tenney of Manchester, Mass., and John S. Richardson of Stratford, Ct.

In a personal message to the trophy winners, William Randolph Hearst said:

HEARST SENDS MESSAGE

"A nation like the United States, subject of envy and jealousy of a hostile and insufficiently civilized world, should be able to defend itself against some outbreak of this latent hostility into attack.

"Military training for the young men of the nation in schools and colleges was favored by the founders of the republic, but unfortunately this plan is not in general operation.

"The next best plan for national defense is to instruct the youth of the land, by other means, in the rudiments of military training.

"The object of the annual rifle shoot is to make skillful marksmen of as many young Americans as possible, and so contribute in this important matter toward the defense of the country through an efficient citizen soldiery.

AWARD FOR AMERICANS

"The trophy is being awarded, therefore, not merely to the winners of an ordinary contest of skill, but to the young Americans who have most effectively cultivated their mental and physical gifts toward the possible defense of their country in time of danger

"It is being presented not merely to good marksmen but to good citizens, to the young men whose love of country leads them to prepare for patriotic duty.

"None of the people of America wants war, but some have the vision to see that war may be forced upon us, and they have the patriotism to prepare for that emergency."
